

*Welcome Girls Scouts to our first Making HERstory Badge Program!
We are excited to share this production as it takes you on a historical journey to learn about women who have impacted our society.*

During Women's History month the Women's Journey Foundation produces a one of a kind event: Making HERstory, a multi-generational event that is educational and entertaining

Requirement One

During the event, several women will be represented from various moments in history. Write their names and their contributions. Name three.

Requirement Two

Write about a woman who impacted your life and why? It can be a teacher, your mother, and/or grandmother. Or a woman in history such as Michelle Obama, Dolores Huerta, Rosa Parks, to name a few. How did they impact you? What hardships did they endure? How did they overcome them? Write a short paragraph, a poem, or a song.

Be creative!

We would love to see your creations and share them on our website and Social Media.

Why is it important for girls to learn about women's historic achievements?

“Every time a girl opens a book and reads a womanless history, she learns that she is worthless. If we want our girls to benefit from the women who came before them, we must share their stories.

~Myra Sadker

History must tell the whole story!

Women's achievements expands our sense of what is possible. Our history is our legacy. Women's self-confidence and dreams are diminished when we don't know our own history.

Requirement Six

As part of Making HERstory, several women will be honored by the Women's Journey Foundation. Select three and write their accomplishments? What motivated them to reach their dreams?

Requirement Three

Create a poster, a drawing, or a painting of what a girl/woman means to you in today's society.

Requirement Four

Currently, only 3% of women are represented in over 3600 years of documented history. Our history books don't reflect the impact women had in our society through the years. Yet, there are many women who broke barriers and impacted our society positively.

If you were to write a book and had the power to change this. What would be the title? What would be your action plan? Who would you like to include in your history book and why? Name three women.

Requirement Five

This year women made history and we have our first woman Vice President. In addition, eleven of the Presidential Cabinet are women. We also have several women in the Supreme Court. Name three, and their accomplishments.

Requirement Eight:

Who is your Shero?

Create a 30-second video of a woman who impacted your life. Who would you honor with an award?

Use your video-making skills!

Send this video to the WJF for posting on Social Media and on the website.

We love to see those Sheros!

To receive the badge, please submit ONE of the completed requirements.

Please send your completed requirements (photos of projects are acceptable) to the following email:

info@womensjourneyfoundation.org

Make sure to add "Making HERstory Girl Scout Badge," in the subject area or embedded in the email. Also, include your full name and/or your parent/guardian's information and mailing address.

We want to see your creations!

Values We Embrace

- Celebrate diversity - it's way more interesting.
- Recognize the value in each and every soul.
- Everyone needs a helping hand once in a while - and that's ok!
- Education is key to realizing potential and charting a path
- Change is created when women engage and become masters of their own life.

Educate. Empower. Engage.

About Making HERstory

During Women’s History month, the Women’s Journey Foundation produces a one-of-a-kind event, Making HERstory, a multi-generational event that is educational and entertaining

Where are the women in history? What were their accomplishments and contributions?

Women are represented by 3% in over 3600 years of documented history.

History must tell the whole story! Women’s achievements expands our sense of what is possible. Our history is our legacy. Women’s self-confidence and dreams are diminished when we don’t know our own history.

Making Herstory, involves multiple ages of women and girls to portray the roles of historic and influential women who defied stereotypes, broke barriers and changed our nation’s trajectory.

Legacy Award Winners

Local women making significant contributions for the betterment of women are honored with our Legacy Award.

Recognizing achievements of today’s women in all facets of life contributes to increasing self-respect and an awareness of new opportunities among girls and young woman.

Previous honorees: Firefighter, Captain Kathy Mollica Schaefer, Activists Felicity Figueroa, Rida Hamida and Rachel Bruhnke for community service: Planned Parenthood Amy Streavel for reproductive rights: Lucia De Garcia and Samantha Dunn for media/journalism: UCI Michele Goodwin for Law, Los Angeles Representative Janice Hahn, and Activist Dolores Huerta.

Young girls are awarded the Rising Star Award for their work in the community.

Other organizations and schools participate: Pacifica University, UC Irvine, Gather the Women, UNA Women, National Association of Women’s Business Owners, Planned Parenthood, Girl Scouts, Orange County School of the Arts, American Association of University Women, Women for American Values and Ethics, WE Lead, California Teacher’s Federation Union and many more.

Proceeds from Making HERstory benefit the Women’s Journey Foundation’s free self-esteem, I CAN program for girls and educational programs for women.
